MEMORANDUM FOR: Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster

SUBJECT: Categories of Billets Planned for T-KH Certification

1. In January of 1959 USIB agencies participating in the TALENT Program established arrangements for the secure handling and control of satellite reconnaissance materials and information when available. Included in this planning were estimates based upon our experience in handling the larger photography of the U-2, the anticipated readout potential of the smaller scale satellite photography, the new problems involved in the handling of it from a photogrammetric point of view, and the nature of the intelligence anticipated. All estimates submitted to CIA and approved by CIA originated directly with the senior intelligence chief in each participating agency and included a justification and rationale.

2. For the purpose of clarification of the gross estimate-figures for the planned use of TALENT-KEYHOLE material (the photographic product of CORONA) each agency's estimate has been broken down into three categories as follows:

Category I Senior Officials in the Participating Departments and Military Services

This category in each case lists the title of the office and in some cases the name of the person.

Category II Substantive Intelligence Analysis and Estimators

This category includes substantive experts (not photo technicians) in the various agencies who must take the information prepared by photo interpretors, correlate it with other sources, and prepare reports and estimates for the senior intelligence officer, or for his reporting to superiors, or contribution to the estimates produced by the United States Intelligence Board.

Category III Photo Interpretation

This category includes the technical photo interpretors, administrative, communication, and logistics support personnel handling the TALENT-KEYHOLE materials in the centers of the various agencies considered in this report.
